

Research and Campaign

This role involves looking at the trends in the problems that clients present and identify whether a change in procedure, practice or policy of local agencies would help prevent problems in arising for clients in the first place. Experience of research and writing reports would be an advantage.